HARRY THAW HAS ESCAPED

Carried Away From Insane Asylum in an Automobile That Speeds Toward the Connecticut Line—Is Supposed to Have Boarded a Yacht

New York, Aug. 18.—Harry K. Thaw cannot be extradited, according to a dispatch received here from District Attorney Whitman, early today. It was sent from the Mount Washington hotel, Bretton Woods, N. H., and was as follows:

"Thaw was acquitted and there is no indictment pending against him in New York. He cannot be extradited—C. S. Whitman."

New York, Aug. 17.—Harry Kendall Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, escaped from the Matteawan state hospital for the criminal insane early today. Within an hour after his dash for liberty he had crossed the line dividing the states of New York and Connecticut, and tonight he is beyond the reach of New York authorities.

It is believed that extradition is impossible and that Thaw's freedom is assured unless he is held for insanity in another state and committed to some asylum there.

On Board Yacht.
Thaw was supposed to have boarded a yacht lying off the coast, with the intention of landing at some foreign port and then proceeding to Pittsburgh.

Dr. Kelb issued an official statement tonight placing the responsibility directly upon Guard Mulhall and Guard Barnum. He said:

"I believe it was an inside plot. Thaw knew he had no chance in court with me. George Mulhall was the nearest person to Thaw when he made his dash for liberty."

"There was no force used to hold him and no words spoken. It was evident that the thing was all out and dried, and the most suspicious thing is the fact that it was fully a quarter of an hour before the escape was reported to me by Barnum."

Regrets the Escape.
"I wish to offer $500 out of my personal funds for information that may lead to the recapture of Harry Thaw. I regret exceedingly to say that no attempt appears to have been made to detain the man or prevent his escape."

Thaw's escape was one of the most dramatic affairs of the kind ever recorded. After knocking down a gate-man who was admitting a milkman to the Matteawan asylum grounds, he leaped into a taxicab standing just outside the wall. This was headed for the Connecticut state line and the moment that Thaw entered the chauffeur put on full speed and dashed away.

Before a half mile had been covered by the taxicab it overtook a six-cylinder Packard touring car that had been moving slowly, also toward the Connecticut line. The taxicab slackened speed and Thaw leaped out as the smaller machine drew alongside the touring car. The door of the latter was open and Thaw leaped aboard. As the door slammed the Packard sped away at a rate of at least eighty miles an hour.

The machine dashed through Stormville, N. Y., fourteen miles from the asylum without any diminution of speed and, according to late reports received by the asylum authorities, crossed the Connecticut line in the vicinity of New Canaan, Conn.

Result of Conspiracy.
Dr. Reynolds Charles Kelb, superintendent of Matteawan, believes that Thaw's escape was the result of a carefully planned and well executed conspiracy.

He received information after Thaw's escape that led him to believe, he said, that the fugitive had been carried to a Connecticut seaport town, where a yacht had been waiting off shore to take him aboard.

The superintendent ordered the arrest of Howard Barnum, the asylum guard who was on duty at the time that the wealthy young slayer broke away from the institution to which he was committed on February 1.

1908. Dr. Kelb was appointed superintendent on June 6 of this year, succeeding Dr. John W. Russell. Dr. Russell was dismissed as the result of an alleged $20,000 bribery plot for the release of Thaw.

John N. Anhalt, a young lawyer, is now serving a prison sentence for his participation in the bribery conspiracy.

Extra Precautions.

Because of the conditions under which he took office, Dr. Kelb had taken extra precautions to prevent just what happened today. He has ordered a rigid investigation to determine just what attendants, if any, were involved in the successful plot to free Thaw.

Since Thaw was sent to Matteawan, more than five years ago, his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw of Pittsburgh, has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in attempts to have him freed from the institution. The aged mother arrived in New York unexpectedly from her summer home at Cresson, Pa., this afternoon, and joined her daughter, Mrs. George Carnegie, who is stopping at the Gotham hotel.

Mrs. Thaw refused to say anything when news of her son's escape first reached the hotel, but Mrs. Carnegie was apparently greatly surprised.

"My mother and I had intended to go to the hospital tomorrow to see Harry," said she. "We knew nothing of his intentions or have we any idea where he is or what he intends to do. It is a great surprise to us all."

As soon as Evelyn Nesbit Thaw heard of her husband's escape she asked for protection. She declared she believed her life in danger, and accordingly she was given police protection. She is also being guarded by a private detective hired by Arthur Hammerstein.

This detective accompanied her to and from the Victoria theater, where she is performing in vaudeville.

William Traverse Jerome, who while district attorney sent Thaw to the asylum, and thereafter successfully resisted all attempts to the young man to gain freedom, was told late today of Thaw's escape. He said that he would make no comment there, except that he was afraid that Thaw would attack him.

Legal experts are practically agreed tonight that Thaw is immune from arrest so far as the murder of Stanford White is concerned. Even if he were arrested in another state on some pretext it is not believed that he would be extradited. His case, if he keeps out of New York state, forms a striking parallel to that of John Armstrong Chanler, who was declared insane in New York, but escaped to Virginia where he lives unmolested. He has changed the name of Chanler to Chaloner.

PERU'S MINISTER VISITS SALT LAKE

Salt Lake, Aug. 18.—Peru is a fine, progressive country, with big and growing mines, a flourishing agriculture, a warm climate, an intelligent people, and the best prospects in the world. You see I have been in southern California and have learned how to "boost."

Senator Frederico Alfonso Perez, minister from Peru to the United States, is here, stopping at the Hotel Utah on the way to the Yellowstone. He has been on the Pacific coast for the past two months, touring the country, looking into agricultural work, and recently, selecting a site for the Peruvian exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. He is accompanied by his wife and son.

A Washington Perez, a graduate of Harvard and attaché to the Peruvian legation. According to his father, young Washington got his name though at that time Senator Perez had never been in America.

"Washington and Slomn Bolivar," he explained, are revered equally in Peru and America.

With regard to the new diplomacy inaugurated by Secretary Bryan of the American state department, which recently culminated in the practical establishing of a protectorate over a Central American state, Senator Perez would have nothing to say. "It doesn't concern me," he explained. "The relations of Peru and the United States are most cordial and I am now on a pleasure trip."

Sensor Perez will start for the Yellowstone with his wife and son in a day or two. They will return to Salt Lake afterwards and then continue their journey to Washington.

LINEMAN'S FATAL FALL

Garfield, Aug. 17.—Falling from the cross-arms of a high telephone pole at the Garfield smelters, Nathan Frederick Newell, 47 years of age, of 704 W. Second North, Salt Lake, was instantly killed at noon today. His skull was fractured, the spine was broken and an arm and leg were badly bruised in the fall. Mr. Newell was a lineman in charge exterior wiring about the Garfield smelters.

Mr. Newell had been visiting at his home several days and attended at Salt Lake theater Saturday night. Returning from the theater, he told members of his family that he felt there was something wrong at Garfield, either with wires or his men. Passing a restless night, he rose early yesterday morning and caught the first train for Garfield. Immediately upon reaching the smelters he asked many questions concerning wires and the early forenoon found him making inspections.

Groups of employees of the smelters and fellow linemen were watching him when, it seemed, he lost his hold and fell. A Garfield surgeon was called, but examination revealed that Newell had been killed instantly.

EVELYN IS NOW AFRAID

Wife of Stanford White's Slayer Has Detectives to Guard Her to and From the Theater—Thinks Husband Means to Do Violence

New York, Aug. 17.—Under the protection of the police and a private detective, the latter hired by Arthur Hammerstein, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw went to and from the Victoria theater on business connected with her vaudeville engagement there, in mortal fear of her life. For with her husband Harry K. Thaw, roaming at large, the beautiful young woman who is now doing a dance with Jack Clifford at Hammerstein's and over whom the famous Madison Square garden tragedy occurred, believes that her life is in danger.

For the first time today Evelyn told of the last words between herself and her husband. So ominous were they and are they now to her that she feels that "anything may happen to me now with Harry out of the asylum."

Thaw's Threat.
"I will have to finish you to complete my job," are the words which froze the blood of the young wife when with an almost maniacal smile Thaw addressed her for the last time just as she had concluded testifying for him during the White Plains examination into his sanity now more than two years ago.

"And what's more, he meant it. I know that look on his face. I know how remorseless he is in what he determines to do," said the young woman. "I knew it only last summer when at the hearing, again at White Plains and behind the palm leaf fan he used all during the hearing, he made ugly faces and stared and glared sullenly at me at frequent intervals while the hearing was proceeding."

No Longer "Child Wife."
The Evelyn Nesbit of today is a far different creature from the little round-faced Evelyn Nesbit I saw and interviewed shortly after the killing of Stanford White in 1906. She seemed little more than a child then, and there was a pathetic and helpless, ness about her that is no longer to be seen. Evelyn Thaw is now a woman—a woman with poise, with self-possession and understanding and with a remarkable calm and a complete belief in herself.

"Harry can do me no harm unless he does harm to my little boy," said Evelyn this evening. "That boy is my all—my present, my future, my everything. Nobody can know what it all means and why motherhood is such a hallowed thing, except she who has borne a child. There is God's beauty in the thought that God has entrusted a human soul and a baby's life to your care and being."

"By the way, Mrs. Thaw," I asked, "did Harry know when the little one was born?"

Kept Birth a Secret.
"No. I purposely kept it from him and Russell was a year old before the story of his birth appeared in the papers. Only a few close friends knew and I have to say regarding the birth and paternity of my little boy will all come out in good time. I do not want to go into that now. I can prove all I have to say about our boy, but there is no reason for doing so now. Later the world will know all of the facts."

Called Home by Wife's Death.
Following the announcement of the death of his wife, Mrs. Kate Bennett, who died at her home in South Weber yesterday, word has been received from Delbert R. Bennett that he is leaving West Virginia immediately on his return home.

Mrs. Bennett has been engaged in missionary work in the eastern states. Mrs. Bennett was a daughter of Mrs. Jane Douglas, residing at West Weber. The body is at the Larkin undertaking rooms in this city, and no arrangements for the funeral will be made until after the arrival of the husband.

No Tomatoes Condemned.
"Other than that the Idaho pure food commissioner has not condemned a single can of our tomatoes and that no tomatoes will be shipped back here to be destroyed, the story is all right," was the denial made by H. L. Herrington, vice president of the Utah Canning company, today, regarding the published article from Boise, Idaho, to the effect that 16,000 cans of the vegetable had been found to be unwholesome. Mr. Herrington returned at noon from a business trip to Boise.

The Utah Canning company official went to Boise to investigate, following a report that tomatoes packed in the local plant were being examined by the state authorities. He found that State Pure Food Commissioner James H. Wallis had collected nine cans of tomatoes, which he declared to be in unwholesome condition. Upon comparing the contents of the nine cans with tomatoes packed by other concerns they were found to be equal, if not superior, in quality, according to Mr. Herrington.

"We shipped about 15,000 cases of tomatoes into Idaho last year," and there scarcely could be 16,000 cans left at this time when we are on the verge of another packing season. Absolutely no complaints against the tomatoes were made outside the city of Boise. While I have not read the article from Boise, I can say positively that Commissioner Wallis has condemned none of our tomatoes and none will be shipped back to the factory to be destroyed."

Constantinople, Aug. 17.—Considerable alarm was caused here by the sudden departure Saturday night of two Russian warships, which were stationed at Beykoz on the Bosphorus. Their destination is thought to be Sebastopol. The Russian ambassador here ordered the ships to sail, and added that the admiral would receive further instructions when he was on the high seas.

It is generally believed here the departure of the ships has reference to the question of the evacuation of Adrianople, and that it is the first move of the powers to show Turkey that she must accede to their demands.

SULZER CASE END IS NEAR

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Tomorrow is likely to mark a crucial point in the dual governorship dispute involving William Sulzer and Martin H. Glynn. Sunday passed without any warlike demonstration.

Mr. Glynn tonight began an inquiry into the escape of Harry K. Thaw from Matteawan. He sent the following telegram to Superintendent of Prisons John B. Riley and to Dr. R. F. C. Kelb, superintendent at Matteawan.

"Please telegraph me immediately all details you have about the escape from Matteawan state hospital of Harry K. Thaw."

"MARTIN H. GLYNN, 'Acting Governor.'"

Sulzer announced that he would order an investigation and direct a full report from the state prisons department, one of a rigid investigation. The purpose is to shatter, if possible, the Sulzer defense which will be based chiefly on Mrs. Sulzer's statement that she and not her husband signed his name to the checks turned up in the Boyer-Griswold account.

The first step will be the issuance of a Jane Doe subpoena for the nurse who up to Friday attended Mrs. Sulzer. Information has come to the agents of the committee in Albany that this nurse was discharged by the governor for "talking too much." The committee believes that "talking too much" consisted of telling stories of Mrs. Sulzer's condition which were not to the liking of the governor.

Assemblyman Aaron J. Levy has already been quoted as saying: "Not only is this (Mrs. Sulzer's) confession a sham, but the pretended illness of Mrs. Sulzer is a sham of which Sulzer is the chief perpetrator."

The idea of attacking the confession of Mrs. Sulzer has been in the minds of the committeemen since the night when the news that it had been made was broken to the assembly by Minority Leader Hinman. Frawley has publicly announced that he is loath to call Mrs. Sulzer and that he did not believe she should be summoned before the committee even if she were perfectly well.

But the leaders in the fight on Governor Sulzer have avowed their disbelief in the confession and their desire to show before the trial that Mrs. Sulzer is merely trying to shield her husband.

When they were told that the nurse who first attended Mrs. Sulzer had been discharged they decided that some of the facts they desired to obtain from Mrs. Sulzer could be obtained from the woman who was with her in her illness.

"If the committee can prove that Mrs. Sulzer has not been really ill, the members feel that they will at least have made a start in the direction of determining that the whole defense is a sham."

They point out that the nervous breakdown of Mrs. Sulzer is ascribed by her husband to her belief that she had ruined his career. If she has had no nervous breakdown they say that the whole story of the confession is blown up.

EGYPTIANS PLOT KITCHENER'S DEATH

London, Aug. 17.—A plot to assassinate Lord Kitchener has been revealed at Oxford university, according to the Daily Express. The paper states that the foreign office received the information that an Egyptian youth who until recently was an undergraduate at one of the principal colleges at Oxford, but whose name and history have been kept a secret, has avowed his intention of causing the death of Lord Kitchener through the medium of an Egyptian Nationalist society.
